

The Christian Science Trustees for Gifts and Endowments

Established in 1926 by The Christian Science Board of Directors in order to accept certain types of gifts on behalf of The Mother Church, the Trusteeship is currently comprised of:

- Henry C. Osborn, Chairman
- Lynn S. Birdsong
- Paul E. Hannesson

The Trustees, through the professional staff of the Office of the Treasurer of The Mother Church, are committed to providing high-quality administration and investment of charitable trusts and other life income gifts placed in their care. Excellent custodian and gift administration service organizations have been engaged to provide timely electronic deposit of payments, accurate tax reporting information and easy-to-understand statements about your gift.

The Trustees invest gift assets through a set of mutual funds, overseen by Kaspick & Co., a leading investment manager of charitable assets. The Trustees maintain fiduciary oversight of all of the administrative and investment services related to these charitable assets.

The Trustees exclude investments that are focused on the alcohol, tobacco, gaming, adult entertainment, pharmaceuticals, medical products and services industries.
